

A black and white cartoon illustration. On the left, a small boy with spiky hair and a wide-eyed, surprised expression holds a bucket. He is looking towards a man on the right. The man is running away from the boy, carrying a large, striped bag over his shoulder. A speech bubble above the man's head contains the text "HIK ERE!?!". The background features a brick wall, a street with parked cars, and buildings in the distance. The style is simple and expressive, typical of mid-20th-century cartooning.